Instructions: Read the following scenarios and answer the questions that follow.

Scenario One...

It was Micky's first day of school in fourth grade. She entered her classroom and felt a bit nervous when she saw all the unfamiliar faces there. Quietly and without looking at anyone, she quickly found her desk and sat down. After a few minutes of settling in, Micky started looking around her classroom. All of the sudden, she heard some strange noises coming from behind. Micky turned her head to see who could be making such noises when she saw Sharon, the little girl who sat right behind her. Micky thought there was something different about Sharon. Micky quickly turned around, but, after a few moments, found that she couldn't resist looking back at Sharon again. Micky thought to herself, "What's wrong with Sharon? Why is her face so crooked, and why does she keep her mouth open and make all those strange noises?" Then, Micky started feeling sorry for herself for having to sit right in front of Sharon. She would have to listen to Sharon's unpleasant sounds all year long!

At this time, Mrs. Clark, the teacher, called for her students' attention. Mrs. Clark welcomed everyone warmly, and asked the students to find a partner and introduce themselves to each other. Micky started looking for a partner, but she couldn't help noticing that everyone was trying to avoid getting too close to Sharon. Micky felt bad for Sharon, but on the other hand was not sure if she really wanted to be Sharon's partner, either...

What would you do if you were Micky?

Scenario Two...

After the Get-to-Know-Each-Other activity, Mrs. Clark stressed the importance of everyone helping and caring for each other in class. Mrs. Clark went on to talk about how every child is different, and how some children may have special needs. She encouraged all of her students to find ways to show kindness to one another. Finally, Mrs. Clark said that she would be giving out awards at the end of the week to those who actually offered a helping hand to others, inside and outside of the classroom. "Awards! How cool would it be if I could get an award," Micky thought to herself.

Before long, it was lunchtime. Micky walked into the cafeteria, lunch bag in hand. She looked around the crowded cafeteria to find a place to sit. Again, she noticed that Sharon was sitting by herself at a table. At that point, Mrs. Clark walked in and began greeting some of her students...

What do you think Micky was thinking when she saw Sharon?

What do you think she was thinking when she saw Mrs. Clark?

Where do you think Micky ended up sitting, and why?

Scenario Three...

After a long day at school, Micky couldn't wait to go home. Micky had a little sister, Minnie, who was just a kindergartener. Minnie adored her big sister, and loved to hang out in Micky's room, whether or not Micky was around. While Micky liked her sister, too, she really didn't like it when Minnie went into her room without her permission. Minnie could make quite a mess of things!

As Micky walked in the door, she saw a trail of her things on the floor—her hair clips, her coin collection, her sticker book, and "Oh, no..." her favorite fruit-flavored lollipop she had been saving for a special occasion had been half-eaten already!!! Micky could feel her face turning red and her eyes welling up with tears. Micky was really MAD, and she knew exactly who was to blame...

Would you feel angry as well in this situation?

In this story, what can Micky do to control her anger?
